SELLS INTEREST

Mr. Leo Christman Disposes of His Partnership in the Gem
Studio.

Mr. Leo Christman, who owned half interest in the Gem Studio, disposed of his partnership during the last week
to Mr. Ira Beam, a former Maysvillian, who will conduct the business under the old firm name of Gem Studio.
Mr. Christman is now located at "De Nuzie," and will have charge of the photographic department of this popular store, and will do the popular and photo work of amateurs.

COUNTY COURT.

J. T. Craig was appointed administrator of the estate of Elijah M. Craig, with Mollie Purcell as surety
on bond. Oath taken and bond approved.

J. E. Anderson, Cleveland Ross and Dan Osborne were appointed to appraise the estate of Elijah M. Craig, deceased.

W. C. Hall qualified as administrator of L. Vassile, with Stanley F. Reed
as surety on bond.

Dimmitt C. Knight qualified as administrator of the estate of H. D.
Knight, with James Thompson and Fred Brodt as surety on bond.

M. J. Hennessey, acting for the heirs,
has filed suit against the C. & O. railroad for $2,999.50, for the death of John (Bunker) Owens, who was killed by No. 2 east of Augusta, two weeks ago. The suit was filed at this term of Circuit Court.

Mary Golden Oracraft, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Oracraft, of near Sardis, died Saturday morning after a few days' painful illness of appendicitis, aged 7 years.

The new bridge the L. & N. is building at Ewing, is progressing rapidly and will be one of the strongest and best bridges of its kind in the county.

Mr. Lucien Luttrell, who has been confined to his home on Front street for the last week, is again able to be about.

Mr. A. H. Blythe, of Bradford, was in this city Saturday on business.

Mr. C. D. Asbury, of Mt. Olivet, was a Maysville visitor Saturday.

Mr. S. J. Irvine, of Paris, was in this city Saturday.

SUES C. & O.

Dover Trust Company, Administrator
of the Estate of Gertrude Pyatt,
Who Was Killed By Train,
Sues Railroad For $15,000.

Saturday morning in the office of Circuit Clerk James B. Key, the Dover Trust Company, administrator of the estate of Gertrude Pyatt, deceased, through its attorney, F. P. O'Donnell, filed suit against the Chesapeake &
Ohio Railroad Company for $15,000.

The petition states that the railroad company is a corporation doing business in this State, operating a railroad, and that through the carelessness of its employees, the death of Gertrude Pyatt was caused.

It will be remembered that the Pyatt girl and a small baby boy by the name of Petit were walking along the railroad tracks near Short street several months ago when they were hit by a train. The Petit child received several small injuries, while the Pyatt girl was injured about the body. Lockjaw set in and the young girl died.

The Dover Trust Company is appointed administrator of her estate,
and brings the suit.

SEASON OPENS TODAY.

Reports from the mountain sections say that the crop of quail is much larger than last season and that everything points to good hunting. Hunters are getting their dogs and guns ready and on today, the opening of the season, a number of parties from this city will go to Bath, Fleming, Morgan, Elliott, Carter and other counties, where it is reported there are a large number of birds.

FUNERAL HELD SUNDAY.

The funeral of Charley Lupton, aged 26, the Hungarian who was injured in an accident at the dam Thursday night and who died Friday afternoon at Hayswood Hospital, was held Sunday morning at St. Patrick's church. Interment in the Washington cemetery.
Hungarians from all the small towns
about Maysville attended in a body.

NIMRODS OUT IN GOODLY NUM- BERS.

County Clerk James J. Owens issued license to over forty hunters Saturday. This indicates that amateur nim-rods will be out in goodly numbers in this vicinity this fall. Over several hundred licenses have been issued during the year, all of which are good until January 1, 1916.

N. A. McCarty, of Ewing, had a close call Wednesday while loading a heavy table at the L. & N. depot. In some unaccountable way he lost his balance and fell off of the depot platform, the table falling on top of him, pinning him beneath it in such a way as to bruise his head and shoulder.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Workers in the Field Today Determined To Get 150 More Members To Make a Strong,
Well-Financed Chamber
of Commerce—Have
You Come In?

The team workers in the Chamber of Commerce canvass for members are out again this morning soliciting
more members for the organization.
They are not satisfied with the 223 signed up to noon last Friday, but have determined to swell the number by 150 more. This would give a total membership of 373, and even 350 members means $4,375 a year. Think of the splendid things the organization can do for Maysville with such a fund. Also understand, quite distinctly, that no dollar of the fund is going to be wasted in trivial spending at imaginary opportunities. It is all going to be disbursed under the supervision of a well balanced budgeting committee, which will take care of the money in a business-like way, and see that it is applied along lines that will bring the best results for Mays-ville's industrial, commercial and civic interests.

If you are not yet in, can you afford to stay out? Don't you want to do your part? We feel that you will.
That you can afford to and will contribute $12.50 a year to your community movement association. Merely about 3 1/2 cents a day—the cost of a very ordinary cigar.

Remember that the teams have but today and tomorrow to round up the 150 additional members they want.
Sign up promptly when they call on
you. Don't delay them—don't delay the game. Encourage them all you can. If you can spare the time, join them for about ten minutes and go to the next prospect they are going to work on and help them to sign him up.

"Do It For Maysville."

A Correction.

In the report of the team work for last Friday, the number of members brought in for the day by Team
No. 2, Hall Strode, captain, should have been nine instead of two.

The Tale of Two Cities.

"This is a peculiar city. You won't find another like it in the entire country."

That is the stereotyped phrase that greets the man with the co-operation be in his bonnet.

We say "Forget it." Maysville is no
more peculiar than any other American community.

Forty years ago Chicago, Ill., and Sandusky, O., were of equal size and population. Sandusky had every opportunity of becoming a metropolis.
It had the best harbor on the Great Lakes and other advantages in proportion. Chicago had no great harbor and its advantages couldn't be found with a microscope. But Chicago had men. It had a score of Marshall Fields, Ogden, Armours and other visioned hustlers.

What happened? Today, Sandusky still has its great harbor, but it has no more shipping than it did forty years ago. It has barely 20,000 inhabitants. It is in a rut and bids fair to stay there for all time to come.
Chicago's men built a harbor. They co-operated and created a city with but one peer in the entire country. It wasn't "pure luck" which built Chicago. "Force of circumstances" had but very little to do with the wonderful growth of the Western world city.
The secret of its success is no secret
at all, but plain, unadorned, hip-top, shoulder-to-shoulder co-operation and hustling. Its men refused to recognize any "peculiarities" unsurmountable and as a result we never hear of Sandusky nowadays.

We repeat that Maysville is no
more "peculiar" than any other American city. If there are any "peculiarities" that have stood in the way of this city's growth, then it is about time we stamped and rode roughshod over them.

Maysville's Chamber of Commerce
can accomplish anything in reason that Maysville's people want accomplished. That is, if Maysville's people will join the Chamber of Commerce as they should and help in the accomplishment.

Come in. Help push. "Do It For Maysville."

OFF FOR VACATION.

Mr. S. Macey Humphreys, the accommodating second trick operator at the C. & O. passenger station, left Sunday night for a short hunting trip in Lewis county. On Wednesday Mr. and Mrs. Humphreys will leave for a ten days' stay with relatives in Chicago.

FIRST SNOW OF THE SEASON.

The first snow of the season fell
Sunday night and Monday morning.
While it fell thick and fast, it melted
as soon as it fell. This is the fifteenth,
and according to weather observers,
we should have fifteen snows this winter.

Mr. Lud Hamilton, manager of one of the theaters at Portsmouth, O.,
spent Sunday here with relatives.

Are you one of those unfortunate persons who didn't leave their kodak
films at "De Nuzie?"

Mr. Samuel Ennis, the dry cleaner, is a business visitor in Portsmouth, O.

HEAVY DAMAGES ASKED

Albert Petit Sues C. & O. Railroad For $10,000—Injured For Life.

Saturday afternoon, in the office of the Mason Circuit Clerk, Albert Petit,
through his next best friend, Joseph Petit, filed suit against the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad for the sum of $10,000, which he says is the amount of damages due him for injuries caused by the railroad company. Several months ago the plaintiff and Gertrude Pyatt were walking along the C. & O. tracks near Short street when an engine switching ran them down, injuring both. The Pyatt child died from the effects of hot injuries, while the Petit boy received injuries that will render him a cripple for life. Mr. F. P. O'Donnell is attorney in the case for plaintiff.

ADVANCEMENT FOR MAYSVILLE SECTION BOSS.

Mr. James Broshears, who has for the last five years been section boss
on the Maysville section of the C. & O. railroad, has just been advanced to a much better position in the same capacity at Silver Grove.

While at Maysville Mr. Broshears has twice won first prize for having
the best-kept section in this division, and the last time he won a prize he was told that he had the best
section in the whole district.

"Jim," as he is better known, has done excellent work for the C. & O.
since being in their employment, on account of the fact that he has always been honest, upright, sober and industrious. He has a record which is covered by many another man on the road.

It is also stated on good authority that he will become superintendent of this division in the near future.

Mr. Broshears, wife and family will move to Silver Grove to make their future home the latter part of this month.

THE STEPHENSON GARAGE.

We call the attention of our readers to the advertisement of the Stephenson Garage in the old Fitzgerald Saddlery Company's building. Mr.
Stephenson has had the building remodeled and fitted up in the most approved manner for the automobile business. Mr. Stephenson comes from Dayton, O., where he was engaged in the automobile business. He was born and reared a few miles west of Maysville on the Ohio side of the river.
His Oakland machine seems to be taking quite well with the people. We bespeak for him a liberal share of the auto trade and feel sure that you will receive courteous and honest treatment from Mr. Stephenson. We welcome him and his family to Maysville.

GUY-BROWNING NUPTIAS.

Sunday afternoon, in the parlors of the Christian church at Germantown, the pastor, Rev. W. T. Ecklar, united in marriage Miss Elizabeth M. Guy and Mr. James C. Browning. The bride is the eldest daughter of Mr. Ira Guy, a well known farmer of Germantown, and has a host of friends.
The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs.
A. A. Browning, and is one of the prosperous young farmers of the county.
The wedding was a quiet affair, a few friends and relatives being present.
After receiving congratulations, the young couple went to the cosy little home the bridegroom had prepared, where they will live. Their many friends in this city and county wish them much prosperity.

THE MANHATTAN MEAT MARKET.

The new Manhattan meat market opened by Mr. W. H. Mead, is one of Maysville's new business concerns. It seems as though the old town affords a location for good men. There is room for all. Mr. Mead formerly worked for the Schwartz & Company market. Mr. Mead will be pleased to see his friends at his new place of business.

BOOKER T. WASHINGTON DEAD.

Booker T. Washington, famous colored educator, died at his home in Tuskegee, Ala., Sunday from hardening of the arteries. He leaves a wife and three children.

THE MANHATTAN MEAT MARKET.

The place for the best and choicest variety of meats. Service sanitary and up-to-date. Your patronage solicited.
W. H. MEAD, 125 West Second.

Mr. Pickett McClanahan, of Cincinnati, was the guest of his parents,
Mr. and Mrs. B. I. McClanahan, of West Second street, Saturday and Sunday. Mr. McClanahan's friends will be glad to know that he is taking special work at the Ohio Mechanics Institute, from which he was graduated last year.

Mrs. C. C. Degman and daughter, Mrs. George W. Hook, of Springdale, were the pleasant guests of relatives here Sunday. Mrs. Degman left this morning for Berea, called by the serious illness of her son, while Mrs.
Hook returned to her home at Springdale.

Miss Julia Peggs, Miss Lena Rogers,
Miss Martha McNutt and Miss Salilo
Moran, of the county, spent Saturday and Sunday as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Wheeler.

Mr. W. P. Buckwalter, of Greenup, was in this city Sunday.

REVIVAL SERVICES

Ending of "Win-My-Chum" Week
Fishes In Big Revival Meeting
At The Third Street M.
E. Church.

The last of the "Win-My-Chum"
week services was held at the Third Street M. E. church last evening with Mr. John W. Hopkins as the leader.
The topic was "The Promise of Spiritual Certainty." Mr. Hopkins spoke very forcefully and conclusively upon his subject. Following his appeal the pastor made a very stirring exhortation for sinners to come to Christ.
Special music was furnished by the children's choir.

Beginning tonight a series of revival meetings will begin at this church. The pastor will be assisted by Rev. D. Wendel Brown, known as the "mountain evangelist." Rev. Brown is a very able and interesting speaker
and all will enjoy and receive a spiritual blessing by hearing the Gospel as presented by him. Good music by a large chorus choir. The songbooks are known as "Songs for Service"
and are the same as used by "Billy" Sunday in all his big meetings. All members of other church choirs are cordially invited to come out and help with the singing.

Every one invited to all services. A Christian welcome awaits you.

"DINKY" ON RAMPAGE.

Saturday night about 9 o'clock, a "dinky" engine at the dam went on its second rampage in two days, and added the name of another victim to its already long list. Oscar Pardner, colored, of Asheville, N. C., was the unfortunate person this time.
He was hit on the head by the rapidly moving engine and knocked unconscious. He was removed to Hayswood Hospital, where physicians worked for several hours to bring him back to consciousness, and were finally successful. This is the third man in two days to be hit by the "dinky," one of whose injuries proved fatal.

MANY LABORERS ARRIVING.

Saturday about fifty Italians and Hungarians arrived in this city from Cincinnati to take jobs as laborers at the dam. Sunday afternoon, on C. & O. train No. 2, more than twenty men of the same nationalities arrived and were at once put to work. The contractors of the dam intend to push the work as fast as possible. There are more than 400 men now employed on this government project.

A C. & O. westbound freight train delayed two cars near South Manchester Thursday morning. Traffic was delayed a short time, but no one was injured.

SENTENCE OF DEATH

Passed On Former Mason County
County Negro At Newport Saturday—Will Be Executed
At Eddyville Feb. 11.

Sentence of death was passed on Harry Garrison, aged 20, colored, of Lewisburg, this county, by Circuit
Judge Yungblut, of Campbell county, in Newport Saturday. He will be electrocuted in the prison at Eddyville on February 11 of next year. Judge Yungblut overruled a motion for a new trial before he passed sentence.
The negro was convicted of attacking Mrs. Luella Crowder, wife of a C. & O. railroad section boss, last June, mention of which was made in The Ledger at the time. He seized the woman near the C. & O. yards in Campbell county and was captured soon afterward.

Garrison will be the first man from Campbell county to die in the electric chair. Formerly the murderers were hanged, the last to go to the scaffold from Campbell county being Scott Jackson and Alonzo Walling, convicted of the murder of Pearl Bryan, of Greeneville, Ind., about eighteen years ago. They were hanged in the jail yard at Newport.

THE CACKLE OF A HEN.

Listen for the cackle of your hen. It has a money value to you.

The winter season is approaching, when the price of eggs will advance and the cackle will become of even greater significance to you.

Plan for the cackle, feed the hens in accordance with the demands of nature as propounded by the experts who have spent their life in the work.

If the cackle is not heard with sufficient frequency, ask yourself why. Dig down and study the subject, for the more you study the oftener the hen will cackle, and cackling means more eggs and a bigger bank account.

It is the law of nature that a hen should lay, and cackle. She should lay often and do much cackling, for that, too, is nature's law.

But she will not lay unless she receives proper care and food, and therein lies the wisdom of the man who thinks before he acts.

Get hold of some good literature, read up on the subject of egg production, apply the knowledge you thus obtain, and in the end you will learn to experience a keen delight in every cackle of your hens.

Your hen wants to cackle—she WILL cackle, if you give her a chance.

And there's money in the cackle of a hen.

NO EXCEPTION.

The average ad valorem rate of duty paid on foreign goods entering the American market in July, 1913, was 18.47 per cent; in July, 1914, it was 14.61 per cent; in July, 1915, it was only 10.42 per cent.

What does this mean? It means not only that the average rates of the Democratic tariff are that much lower than the average rates of the Republican tariff, but it means also that foreign producers are finding the weak spots in our tariff defenses and are entering the American market most largely by the line of least resistance.

It was nearly twice as easy for European producers to get into the American market in July, 1915, under the Democratic tariff, as was in July, 1913, under the Republican tariff.

Democratic tariffs generally are drawn to make things easy for European producers and hard for American producers. The present Democratic tariff is no exception.

All this talk about a league of neutrals is pure bunk—a phantom of an excited brain. Such a league would accomplish about as much as those estimable women from all parts of the world who went over to Europe to stop the war and then went home and watched it grow fiercer every day.

Every little while some fellow lets out an execrating yawn about the country being hard up and going to the dogs. It would if they could have their way, but fortunately they can't. These old U. S. A. are a long way from being busted and everybody knows it but the yawpers.

COUNTRY STILL FOR PROTECTION.

Here is a paragraph to paste on the side of your mirror: The vote of the country in 1912 for tariff protection was 2,000,000 in the good. The President declared that his was the minority party. The European war acting as a prohibitive tariff saved us in large measure from the disastrous effects of a low tariff, and boosted prices. Should the cessation of that war find this country again under a Democratic administration the leadership which war orders and a billion-dollar trade balance have given this country among the empires of the earth must be relinquished. Only a protective tariff can clinch it, and intelligent protection is the first tenet of the Republican creed.

Chicago has produced another literary gem in the person of one Charles Werner, who thus describes his wife in his bill for divorce:

"She is an uneducated woman of the shallow, hair-brained, pin head, Calamity Jane type; large, muscular, hony and beefy; she is some athlete, having the activities of a Corbett, the ferocious temper of a tiger, the strength of an ox and the reason of an ass."

Poor devil!

"And as I passed him he took my hand and drew me down to him and kissed me gently on the forehead"—Exchange.

Blind as a bat.

It is announced that the President will abandon New Hampshire next year. New Hampshire beat him to it by abandoning him last year.

Make up your mind that no work is so well done but that it can be done better. Therein lies the first element of future greatness.

The fellow who publicly insists that he is a gentleman often has much to learn from the one who never imagines that he is one.

Smile, and try it again!

Fun--Well Done

Somebody Blundered.

"I'm sorry the doctor says that I have to be alone on my vacation," Wigram Wilhites said to his wife as he unpacked his trunk again to put a collar button in. "But at least, if I can't have you with me, I can send you a postcard every day with pictures of the sea and things on them. Excepting on Sundays, of course."

She kissed him for his selfishness and he departed. She got the entire twelve postcards, one for each weekday, and all with lovely views of the same wave, on the same day.

When he returned home, peeling handsomely from sunburn, his first question was, "You got all my cards, I hope?"

"All twelve, Wigram," she replied. "The views of that wave were lovely, and I appreciated the handwriting as much ever, and the dates were all put in beautifully, but still—"

"Yes, Malina?"

"Well, you must have given them to an awful bonehead to mail for you to save you the trouble. He mailed them all in one day, just as you wrote them, and I got the whole lot two days after you left."

Exercising himself, Wigram called a taxied and rode thirteen miles out into the country and sat on a fence with his thoughts.—Louisville Times.

Daily Bible Reading

By REV. HOWARD W. POPE
Associate and Bible Teacher, Extension Department, Moody Bible Institute of Chicago

TEXT—Give attention to reading.—I Timothy 4:12.

How one shall read the Bible depends largely on what he is reading it for. The Bible is an all-around book, and serves many purposes, but it is well to have in mind some definite purpose in all one's reading.

There is the devotional use of the Bible. All stringed instruments quickly get out of tune. The action of the atmosphere, and the constant vibration in play, relaxes the strings so that they need to be retuned very often. No matter how good the violin is, it needs to be tuned every day, and often many times a day.

Man is like a violin. He soon gets out of tune with God. The wear and tear of life, and the demoralizing atmosphere which sin creates, so affects his disposition that he needs to be brought into harmony with God every morning. It is not surprising, when we consider the subtlety of sin, and the weakness of the flesh, rather it is Strange that a harp of a thousand strings, should keep in tune so long.

Nothing will bring the believer into touch with God so soon as a little taste of the Divine Word. For devotional purposes the Psalms are perhaps the best, because they cover so wide a range of experience. Here we find aspiration and confession, joy and sorrow, adoration and praise. Here we behold the calm confidence which grows out of a sublime faith. "The Lord is my shepherd; I shall not want." Again we meet the bitter anguish which comes from ingratitude, or unrequited love, or the ecstasy of sin forgiven as in Psalm 51, or the passionate plea for mercy in Psalm 51, or the shout of triumph in Psalm 68. It is doubtful if there is any experience in life for which we cannot find a duplicate in the psalter, and, noting how the man after God's own heart behaved in similar emergencies, we are unconsciously led into the same feeling.

In the morning read Psalm 19, and at even Psalm 3. If you are going on a journey, Psalm 121 is appropriate. If it be Sunday, 122. If in perplexity, read Psalm 37. If you are grateful, choose, 105, or 106, or 118. If your heart is yearning, Psalm 139 will accomplish it. "O Lord, thou hast searched me and known me," and after a sublime description of God's omniscience, closing with the prayer which only an honest heart can utter: "Search me, God, and know my thoughts; and see if there be any wicked way in me, and lead me in the way everlasting." If it is comfort you need, you will find it in abundance in either of the following Psalms, 34, 91 or 103.

The Psalms are also excellent for devotional reading because there we come in contact with the words and works of Jesus. We see how he lived in the home and by the wayside, in the carpenter's shop, and by the open grave. We see him in public life and in private ministry always the same, never hurried, nor worried, always thinking of others and never of himself. We see him playing with the children, watching the hens in the door yard, and the birds on the trees, the growing grains and fading flowers. In everything he saw God's love and care, and from all things natural he drew some spiritual lesson for his own and others' comfort.

If he asked how much one should read at a time for devotional purposes, let me answer with an illustration. I once saw a picture of the disciples on the way to Emmaus. The master has just left them and the two are looking at each other in glad astonishment. One of them is holding both hands over his heart as he says with rapture, "Did not our heart burn within us, while he talked with us by the way, and while he opened to us the scriptures?" He can almost feel his heart burn still as he recalls the memory of that blessed walk.

If you ask how long one shall read his Bible for devotional purposes, I answer, read until your heart burns, until your soul thrills with the consciousness of God's approval. You may read a chapter or a book or a single verse, no matter how much or how little, but read it so that you will be consciously in touch with God, and then, with the father's morning kiss upon your lips, you are ready to meet the outside world.

Some people feel that they cannot spare the time for the morning watch, but I question whether any child of God can afford to do without it. Our souls need to be fed daily as well as our bodies, and the Bible is the soul's proper food. "Man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God."

THE OTHER SIDE.

"The boys and girls of today are entirely too smart—they know more than their parents," remarked a citizen the other day.

This is not true in some cases, but we fear it is only too true in others.

But is it the fault of the children, or of the parents?

When the parents of today were the children of yesterday they were taught to reverence their parents and respect their elders.

It is so in some cases today, but in many the child is practically turned loose to stifle for itself while the parent spends the time in a chase for the pleasures of life.

Even in its infancy the child learns from necessity to depend upon its own resources, and as each day but serves to extend its worldly knowledge it gradually drifts away from the parental authority and assumes a degree of independence and self importance entirely out of proportion to its years.

THE TESTS OF LIFE

God's Provision That Permits the Survival of Those Spiritually Vigorous.

There is no process with which the present age is more familiar than the process of testing. Great mills and factories have their testing laboratories where all the materials used in the factory are tested. Firms will not put their names or trademarks upon articles which have not come up to a certain standard, and it is by a careful system of testing and inspection that the standard is applied. Specimens of armor plate are tested before the rest of the consignment is accepted by the battleship. Specimens of the sand and cement are tested before the concrete is mixed for the foundation of the great buildings. Safety and profit depend on having and employing articles whose merit and durability are tested.

In proportion as an article is valuable, or in proportion to the importance of the service the article is to render, the test increases in rigidity and severity. The glass which is to be used in the great lens of some telescope is inspected with infinitely more care than the glass that is to be used for a window pane. The bridge over which a few foot passengers are expected to cross may be very superficially tested, but no train is permitted to pass over the new railroad bridge until it has been tried by a weight far in excess of any train that will use that bridge.

Sorting Fit From Unfit.

There are tests in the educational life as well as in industrial and commercial life. Examinations are held in the schools, not to compel the students to review the course, or to have some basis on which to grade them in their classes. Those tests are as much for the sake of the institution as for the sake of the individual. For if any institution gets the name of graduating those who know little or nothing, those who cannot fill the positions which they attempt to hold, its diplomas become worthless, and no one is attracted to that institution. If inferior men are admitted to the bar, or to the practice of medicine, public confidence in all attorneys and physicians will be lost. There must be tests which will try a man's mental worth.

Men who practice and approve of such tests, because they see the advantage of them, cannot be surprised that God should make a frequent practice of testing men. And it is not men only that God tests. The forest is tested by the storm. The weaklings among the trees are sweeping away that might be better employed. From such weaklings only a race of weaklings could spring. By the storm the weak are separated from the strong and the forest is given as a possession to the strong. In the life of the man there are two laws, one of which science has discovered: the struggle for existence and the survival of the fittest. It seems like a cruel and bloody arrangement, but it is process of testing in which only the stronger and better survive.

Man Most Severely Tested.

But there is no creature so severely tested as man. Disease tests his physical strength and endurance. The strenuousness of life gives prominence only to those of large mental capacity. So also there are rigid tests of a man's spiritual attainments. The question of God's permitting evil to enter the world and bring so much of a curse may be partially answered by the evil tests and trials to survive those of vigorous spiritual life. By causing them to enter into this struggle with evil the noble qualities of soul are revealed and developed, and in the end God will have a better race than could be developed in any other way. To no man could God say, "Evil temptations and faithful servant, enter into the joy of thy Lord," unless that man's goodness and faith had been made evident under testing.

Nor need anyone be troubled by the fact that the saint sometimes has more to contend with than other men. If tests increase in severity in proportion to the value of the article, or the importance of its service, then the saint must expect to endure more than others. Trials are a compliment, if they are seen in that light. They are a proof that God expects great things of us, that he has an important position waiting for us.

When the Way is Dark.

It is possible, when the future is dim, when our depressed faculties can form no bright ideas of the perfection and happiness of a better world, it is possible still to cling to the conviction of God's merciful purpose toward his creatures, of his parental goodness even in suffering; still to feel that the path of duty, though trodden with a heavy heart, leads to peace; still to be true to conscience; still to do our work, to resist temptation, to be useful, though with diminished energy; to give up our wills when we cannot rejoice under God's mysterious providence.

Sure Light on Pathway.

He who follows Christ follows one from whom light streams upon the road we are to go—an illuminated man—laying out the hidden pitfalls, discovering his stumbling-stones—showing all its turnings and windings, and enabling us to walk safely, surely and cheerfully on our way.—Goshen.

THE LIGHT THAT NEVER FADES.

Every residence in this town should be lighted by electricity, and every business house, work shop and professional office should be similarly equipped.

And we go a little further. Wires should be strung out to every farm house, and barn, and granary, and other outhouse, carrying the light that never fades.

The day of the tallow candle has passed, and the lantern and the coal oil lamp should soon be on their way. Electricity today is no more expensive than the lamp or the candle, while its effectiveness is increased a thousand fold.

The way of the modern world is lighted with electric rays and the community that refuses to become modernizer soon slumbers in the cobwebs of oblivion.

Let's light up and stay lit.

The love you give away is the only love you keep.—Elbert Hubbard.

Let's get close to them and stay close.

CLEARING THE COAST

By FAITH ROBINSON.

Mrs. Lawrence read over the note again with a little smile of understanding.

"Poor old boy," she said. "And I did want him to come so much."

"Who, Anne?"

"Fennimore Briggs."

There came a sudden movement from the hammock. Bab threw her book across the veranda and sat bolt upright, eyes sparkling, color rising in her vivid, changeable, young face.

"When did he come back?"

"Oh, lately, I believe," her sister answered with a sigh. "Do you feel like having a storm on the spot over it, Bab?"

Bab sat irresolute and mute for the moment.

"I wish the world were not round," she exclaimed passionately. "They never go away forever. They just go round and come back again. They ought to tumble off the edge."

"My dear Bab," said Mrs. Lawrence firmly, and in her very best elder sister style, "I don't see why you should feel anything at all over Fenn's return. He's nothing at all to you. You threw him over without the least provocation."

"That's a nice thing to say; a nice, loyal thing, Anne, when you know the whole circumstances. He didn't even deny that he had visited at the Raymonds the same time she was there."

"They were only tacitly engaged, and it was four years ago when he came out of college. Any girl with any charm at all and tact can make a college boy propose to her. They simply beg you to encourage them, and she really was very pretty, Bab."

"I hate her," Bab declared with dignity to the adjacent atmosphere. "I had no idea that you would invite him either while I was staying here. But if you really want him so much, Anne, I shall go straight over to Olive's and stay with her till your house party is over."

And all Anne's coaxing availed not. She would go, and Olive welcomed her gladly, sympathetically. They had been chums at Bryn Mawr together, and debaters together.

She knew the whole affair over Fennimore; had even known the girl—Marion Wallace.

"And, dear, she's married a perfect old mummy with oodles of cash and live grown children. So if she had cared for Fenn, she could have had him, when you broke the engagement."

"If Fenn had wanted her," Bab corrected tearfully. "I'm afraid I'd be a little idiot and forgive him the minute he asked me."

"Maybe he wouldn't ask you, goosie."

Bab flushed, her dark eyes wide and malignant.

"Yes he would, too. He never gives up."

Sunday morning she slept until seven. Dressed in a pink chiffon morning negligee, with a pink lace cap, laced edge, she stepped downstairs and out on the veranda without warning before Fennimore, drinking his second cup of coffee leisurely with Olive.

"I want to speak to Murray just a minute, please," Olive said hurriedly, setting the cup down. "Bab, dear, will you pour me some?"

Bab took her seat with ominous silence. Then slowly, almost perforce, she raised her lashes and met Fenn's eyes full of suppressed enjoyment of the situation.

"You did this on purpose," she said haughtily.

"I did not. I didn't know you were here."

"I left Anne's so she might have you at her house party."

"Most sweet and thoughtful of you. I came here so that you might stay with Anne without fear of my company."

Silence. Bab poured herself a cup of coffee.

"You look adorable, Bab. If you had expected me you could not have dressed prettier, dearie."

"Is this necessary?"

"Very. I only have two minutes, and you'll escape me. You may even make a getaway in the car before I can stop you. Bab, do you really want to escape from me?"

Bab hesitated. The old wooing charm of his voice swept over her again. She closed her eyes to keep from looking at him. And slowly the tears came.

"How could you go there when you knew she was there?" she said. "After—after you had been engaged to her."

"I never loved her."

"You must have asked her to marry you. You must have kissed her—often. And you always call her Marion."

"Bab, listen to me. Stop that crying." He held her hands closely. "A boy of twenty does foolish things. Let's thank God I didn't marry her. We'd have been wretched and in two court long ago. I want you for me, sweetheart, do you hear? You sent me away a year ago and I went, like a chump, but I won't go this time. Will you stop or must I call Olive?"

"She married an old mummy with five children," Bab told him contentedly a few minutes later. "Aren't you glad, Fenn?"

"Delighted," answered Fenn fervently.

WARM UP TO THE FARMER.

Mr. Town Man, how many farmers around here are you acquainted with, and with how many are you really on friendly terms?

Don't you know that our farmers are one of the greatest and most valuable assets of this community, of this town?

Don't you know that without them we would have no town to speak of, that we would be just a dot on the map, and not on it at all.

And don't you think it is to our interest—to your interest—to know the farmer better, to make friends with him, to give him a genuinely hearty welcome every time he comes to town?

Shouldn't we make him feel that this is his town as well as ours?

There is not a higher type or more energetic class of farmers in existence than those of our own community.

Let's get close to them and stay close.

HOW TO SERVE LAMB

SUGGESTIONS THAT MAY BE NEW TO HOUSEWIVES.

Preferences of the Family Are, of Course, the First Things to Be Considered—Best Method of Utilizing the Broth.

"You know I said the other day that I had some good recipes for neck and breast of lamb." Mrs. Happy Home-maker opened her manuscript "cook book" and proceeded to read:

"The neck may be used for various kinds of stews. The neck cut in small pieces is boiled with onions, turnips, and carrots, and when almost done add half a cupful of flour made into a thick, creamy paste with milk. Let this boil with the stew for ten minutes.

"Or use this recipe: Put the pieces of lamb into a frying pan with melted butter, and turn until the pieces are a light brown; then pour into a stew pot with two or three eggs (if the eggs are not in season), an onion, and a few carrots. When this is served it makes an appetizing addition to circle the dish with boiled rice.

"The breast may be used as a roast with browned potatoes and vegetables, and served with a sauce of tomatoes. But this is the way the family likes it best. Take the lamb bones, which the butcher will take off the forequarter in boning it for you, and to these add the breast, putting all into a pot to boil with one onion, one large carrot, a couple of potatoes for thickening, and two tomatoes for flavor. When the breast is thoroughly cooked carefully take out all the bones so as not to break the meat. Press the meat between two large plates, with a weight on top so that the meat may be molded into an even roundness. This may be served cold with a garnishing of lettuce and cold vegetables, with salad dressing, and is a delicious hot day luncheon dish. Or the mold may be cut into slices and fried in bread crumbs.

"The broth which is made from the liquor in which the breast has been cooked is very rich; add a little barley or rice and you will have a whole some and ample supper for the little folks.

"In buying a shoulder of pork ask the butcher to bone it for you, then tie into a round roast so it will keep its shape. Rub well with salt and pepper, and a little thyme or sage, too, gives a pleasant flavor, and roast in a medium hot oven. If you do not use a self-heating roaster, the meat should be basted often. A shoulder of pork weighing eight pounds takes about 40 minutes to cook. This may be served with apples baked in the same pan, if an open roaster is used or with apple sauce."—Kansas City Star.

Non-Fattening Foods.
Many foods which are nourishing do not produce fat. The two kinds which create fatty tissues are fats of all kinds, like butter, lard, drippings (food cooked in them), and the large group of foods classed as starches. If eaten in excess starch will be laid up in the body as superfluous or stored fat.

Following is a list of nourishing foods which will not produce excess fat:
Light meats, like chicken, white fish, lean beef; all vegetables except potatoes, parsnips and other starchy kinds; fruit of all kind except bananas, grain or cereals, except oatmeal and rice; beans and cheese; milk, in small quantity, eggs.

Milk and eggs will fatten unless exercise is taken or the body is in a very run-down condition. Cocoa is a fattening drink also.

Chicken Truffles.
Chop the raw meat of a four-pound chicken very fine; add four well-beaten eggs, one at a time, with one-third of a pint of thick cream and salt and pepper to taste. Cook in buttered timbale molds, garnished with truffles, and set in a pan of hot water in a slow oven. Cover with buttered paper. Bake half an hour. Serve with this sauce: Two tablespoonfuls each of butter and flour, a cupful of chicken stock or milk, turned onto the broken yolks of three eggs.

Between the "I told you so's" and the "I hope so's" the odds are that the former will have the bigger vote.

FOR BETTER ROADS

GUIDE-BOARD QUITE USEFUL

Diagrammatic Illustration of District With Township Sections Indicated by Different Lines.

The Scientific American, in describing a guide-board invented by W. A. Fusch of Decatur, Ill., says:

This invention is a guide-board bearing a diagrammatic illustration of a district with township sections and roads indicated by differentiated lines, and having a movable device adapted to be set in the guide-board at any desired point which serves to indicate the location of said guide-board in the particular district or township delineated by the map on its face. The guide-board has a border on which are inscribed names of towns and other locations lying outside the one in which the guide-board itself is located, and also the distances of such towns and locations from points indicated on the map proper.

PREPARE ROADS FOR WINTER

Before Ground Freezes Smooth, Drag and Pack Center of Road to Provide Needed Drainage.

See that all drain ditches along the road are opened before the ground freezes; then smooth, drag and pack the center of the road, and you will have provided for the essential drainage, without which we cannot expect to have good highways. All rocks should be picked out of the track before they freeze to the ground, harassing both man and beast when they pass over them during the winter months. Low places at bridges and culverts should be filled and leveled up to make winter travel more endurable. Repair holes in bridges, to guard against serious accidents by some horse getting his foot fast—perhaps breaking his leg.

TO MAKE CONCRETE CULVERT

Directions Given for Making Small Bridge Strong Enough to Stand Travel of Heavy Teams.

Our thorough construction force builds a very good concrete culvert in the manner shown in the sketch, writes James M. Kane in Popular Mechanics. The sides A are first built, and the forms removed before the concrete is completely set. Benchlike wood forms are then placed at intervals between the sides A and boards laid on them, then paper spread over the surface of the boards. The concrete is then put on top of the paper. Short pieces of railroad iron are laid in the concrete to re-enforce it.

After the top has properly set, the supports are driven out, or broken down with a long iron rod. The boards are then easily withdrawn. This culvert is strong enough to stand the travel of heavy teams as well as automobile trucks.

Good roads will increase health, wealth, happiness, education, religion, morality, civilization and prosperity.

Drainage Is Essential.
Drainage is the first essential of the construction of good roads and still it is very frequently the last to be considered.

Good on Horse and Wagon.
Good roads are easy on you, easy on your horse, easy on the wagon, easy on the harness.

Happier Social Life.
Good roads bring a better school life, a closer church life, a happier social life.

L. A. Howe, of Saluda, S. C., has probably the largest family in the state. To date the number of children is twenty-eight, the last one arriving on July 26 last. Mr. Howe is sixty-nine years of age and has been married twice, sixteen of the children being by his first wife and the remaining twelve by his last wife.

The pearl fisheries of Ceylon are believed to be the world's oldest industry, as they have been carried on for more than 3,000 years.

WITH COFFEE FLAVOR

VARIOUS PREPARATIONS THAT MAY BE RECOMMENDED.

Aside From Its Use as a Beverage There Are a Number of Ways in Which Delicious Bean May Be Employed.

Coffee is a flavor always at the call of the cook, and one that can be relied on when fruits fail. The medicinal qualities of coffee are due to its aromatic essential oil—and it is that, of course, which gives the flavor. As the roasting brings out the flavor of the oil, the roasting should be carefully done. When using coffee for flavoring make it by percolating boiling water through the freshly ground beans.

Coffee Jelly.—Soak an ounce of gelatin in a cupful of cold water and dissolve in three cupfuls of boiling water. Add two cupfuls of sugar and two of strong coffee, and strain into a mold. Harden and serve with whipped cream, garnished with macaroons.

Coffee Mousse.—Boil a cupful of coffee and two tablespoonfuls of sugar together, and slowly pour it over two egg yolks, stirring all the time. Strain when cold and whip into a stiff cream. Pour into a mold and pack in ice and salt for three or four hours. Serve in tall glasses.

Coffee Iceing.—Melt two cupfuls of sugar and boil until it forms a string from the spoon. Stand the saucepan in a dish of cold water until the sugar begins to form on the sides, and then work in a cupful of strong coffee, pressing it against the sides of the saucepan with a spoon. When the mass granulates it is ready to use as icing.

Coffee Cake.—Cream half a cupful of butter with two cupfuls of sugar. Add half a teaspoonful of cloves and a teaspoonful each of mace and cinnamon, with a cupful of molasses. Beat for five minutes, and add the creamy yolks of three eggs and a cupful of strong coffee. Then alternately add five cupfuls of sifted flour and the whites of three eggs beaten stiff, a teaspoonful of saleratus dissolved in hot water. Lastly stir in a quarter of a pound each of raisins and currants. This will make two loaves. It should be kept covered after it is baked, as it loses flavor if left uncovered.

Coffee Pudding.—Beat four egg yolks thoroughly and add five tablespoonfuls of sugar and half a teaspoonful of salt. Gradually add two cupfuls of boiling milk and half a cupful of hot coffee. Pour into a pudding dish and bake in a pan of water in a hot oven. Serve very cold.

Coffee Creams.—Mix strong coffee with confectioners' sugar, a little vanilla, a tablespoonful of cream and the white of an egg. Add enough sugar to make a stiff cream, mold into balls and put a walnut meat on each side of each ball.

Variety Important.
Variety is most important in arranging weekly menus. Beef may be served as a roast, another time as a steak, another as a hamburger, and so on. Gravies should be cooked in as great a variety of ways as the likes of the family admit. Vegetables are always to be had in great variety and may be cooked more ways than one. Of course, it is not wise to insist on dishes that are not liked simply for sake of variety.

There is delight in eating well-served food. Hence study the little details that tend to give neatness and effect in serving. A bouquet of cut flowers or a growing plant gives a bit of gaiety to the meal.

Jelly Roll.
Four eggs, well beaten, one cupful sugar, one cupful flour, one teaspoonful cream of tartar, one-half teaspoonful soda and a very little salt. Beat well. Spread thin in a large pan to bake. Takes perhaps 15 minutes. As soon as baked trim off the two long edges with a sharp knife, spread the cake with any kind of jelly and roll in a napkin while warm.

Peach Jelly.
Soak one-half cupful of gelatin, one cupful of sugar and one dozen of halved peaches for one hour, then pour over a cupful of boiling water, press all through a strainer and stir over the fire until gelatin dissolves, then set aside to cool. When ready to harden stir in a cupful of whipped cream with a pinch of soda. Put into a mold and set on the ice.

Southern Batter Bread.
Two cupfuls white Indian meal, one cupful cold boiled rice, three eggs well beaten, one tablespoonful melted butter, two and one-half cupfuls of milk, one teaspoonful salt, pinch of soda. Stir the beaten eggs into the meal, add meal, salt, butter, and last of all the rice. Beat well and bake quickly in a shallow pan. Recipe may be halved with success.

Improved Broom Cover.
Broom covers can be made more useful by setting a double ruffle of the cotton flannel, fuzzy side out, between the sides of the covers. This protects the covers so that they wear much longer, and is also very helpful in reaching the corners when dusting wall and ceilings.

Preparing Fowls.
After plucking and singeing fowls, dampen them slightly, sprinkle with flour, rub gently all over and wash in tepid water.

Sunlight Is Natural Tonic.
Sunlight is a natural tonic for the little pigs, and they revel in it.

The largest two direct current dynamos ever built have been completed in Germany, each with a capacity of about 50,000 sixteen-candle power lamps.

Some people work on the principle that when business is good there is no need to hustle, and when it is bad there is no use.

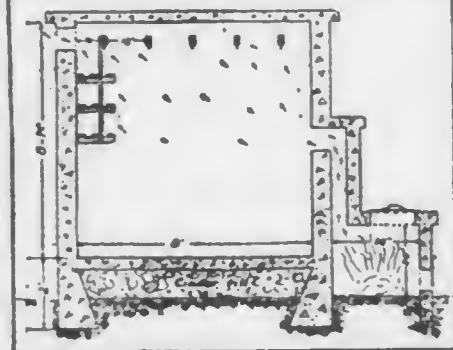

A man is more congenial when people are laughing with him, than at him.

CURING MEAT FOR HOME USE

One of Essentials for Good Meat Is Properly Designed Smokehouse—It Should Be Fireproof.

Why pay 25 cents a pound for smoked meats when you can smoke it for nothing with a little hickory or maple wood or a few coals? Not many years ago when most farmers knew how to butcher and cure meats few of them were without a smokehouse and a meat storing room of some kind, writes Leah Ruth Lippincott in Farmers Mail and Breeder. The development of the centralized plant or packing house has caused a great majority of our farmers to lose the art of home curing. It will be profitable, with the present high prices of cured meat and market values of live stock to cure meat for home use or even the local trade.

This should be a fireproof building. The accompanying figure, furnished by the North Dakota Agricultural college, shows the side section of a concrete structure that is about the right size for the average farm. This house also is suitable for storing meat. It is cool and sanitary. If a good lock-and-burglar alarm are put on the door the meat will be comparatively safe from thieves.

The fire box is placed on the outside of the building for convenience in controlling and replenishing the fire and smoke. There is little danger of the meat overheating with this arrangement. This house will cost about $65 with cement at 50 cents a hundred and lumber at $30 a thousand. This does not include the labor of construction.

Forty-eight sacks of cement, 14 yards of sand, 8 loads of stone, one door, two 2 by 4 by 12s for door frames, three 2 by 4 by 12s for meat hooks. Lumber for forms: Eighteen 2 by 4 by 10s; sixteen 2 by 4 by 8s; 600 board feet shabting.

WELL-TILLED FARM IS BEST

It Is Not Number So Much as Quality and Care Given That Combine to Bring in Net Results.

A few sheep, a small herd of cows, one or two good brood sows, a flock of Plymouth Rocks or Wyandottes, and a few turkeys, on a small farm, well cared for, will bring better net results than large flocks, big herds and big droves. It is not the number so much as the quality and the care given that combine the net results; some men think they must have a big farm to make anything; such men often make out of it. There is economy in working as much land and growing as many crops as can be well taken care of, but there is no economy in attempting more than can be well done.

A veteran farmer used to say that he planned his work in the winter so that he would have under cultivation just what could be thoroughly worked with his regular help, and he was usually able to get his work done at the proper time, and was not obliged to slight his work. And he generally managed to have as good crops as any of his neighbors and he did not work hard, either.

For a long time, either, if farmed, he would but take a lesson from this, break up less land and spend more time in thoroughly fitting it for the crop they would have time to cultivate it more thoroughly and to harvest it in proper condition and attain larger crops from the small area than they do from the larger.

EXPERIMENT WITH HOG FEED

Relative Value of Potatoes and Corn Obtained in Test Held at the Wisconsin Station.

The relative value of potatoes and corn as feed for hogs, obtained in a test at the Wisconsin station, is given as follows:

Four hundred pounds cornmeal fed alone produced 100 pounds gain; 262 pounds cornmeal with 736 pounds of potatoes, weighed before cooking, produced the same number of pounds gain.

Professor Henry who conducted the experiments, says: "From this we learn that 736 pounds of potatoes when fed to pigs after being cooked, effected a saving of 173 pounds of cornmeal, 442 pounds of potatoes taking the place of 100 pounds of cornmeal."

Professor Henry in his book "Feeds and Feeding" also says that the Copenhagen station found 400 pounds of cooked potatoes equal to 100 pounds of mixed grains for swine. Since corn has somewhat higher feeding value than the grains used in this test, it is fair to say that 4.5 bushels (60 pounds each) of potatoes after cooking, are equal to one bushel (56 pounds) of corn in feeding pigs.

FAVORITE DISH IN MEXICO

Hot Tamales Worth Introduction Into American Kitchens—How They Should Be Made.

The Mexican recipe for making hot tamales is to cook one or two chickens until tender. Remove the meat from the bone, shred it in the chopping machine and add to it the liquor in which the chicken has been cooked. This is seasoned with any desired condiments, especially red pepper, and thickened with cornmeal. The rolls are about the size of link sausages and they are wrapped in the inner husks of green corn. Tie the husks with strings at each end and boil them for three hours. It is best to taste the preparation before adding meat to note whether it is rich or needs more seasoning, allowing for the meat to be added, which will take up the steam flavor.

To make tamale pie, take one pound of hamburger steak or left-over meat cut fine, add one level cupful of seeded raisins, one dozen stoned olives, salt, pepper and red pepper to taste. Stew until tender and thicken with one tablespoonful of cornmeal. Then stir one and one-half cupfuls of cornmeal into boiling original upright position and cook to the consistency of mush. Line a buttered baking dish with about two-thirds of this mixture, pour in the meat, cover with the remaining mixture and bake for one-half hour.

FOSSIL FOREST IN AMERICA

Yellowstone Park Contains One of the Most Remarkable of Natural Curiosities.

Remarkable fossil forests exist in Yellowstone park, the most remarkable, it is believed, of the several fossil forests which have been discovered—there are others in Egypt, in California and in Arizona—because in the Yellowstone most of the trees were embedded in the original upright position and not found recumbent and scattered about the ground.

In Arizona, for instance, the fossilized trunks have evidently been carried a long distance from where they originally grew.

In the Yellowstone the trees now stand where they grew, and where they are embedded by the outpouring of various volcanic materials.

Now as the softer rocks surrounding them are gradually worn away they are left standing erect on the steep hillsides just as they stood when they were living; in fact, it is difficult at a little distance to distinguish some of these fossil trunks from the living ones.

Such an aggregation of fossil trunks is therefore well entitled to be called a true fossil forest.

It should not be supposed, however, that these trees still retain their limbs and smaller branches, for the mass of volcanic material falling on them stripped them down to bare, upright trunks.

Words in English Language.
The English language is constantly growing, and almost every person's vocabulary changes from year to year.

The first edition of Webster's dictionary, two quarto volumes, published in 1828, contained 70,000 words and this number was increased by several thousand in the second edition of Webster's dictionary in 1840. An edition of 1890 contained 175,000 words and the latest edition has more than 400,000. Many of these are technical, scientific, or for other reasons restricted to limited use, but nevertheless they are words. Obviously an educated man has a larger vocabulary, a command of words, than an uneducated one and a professional writer or public speaker needs more than a vocabulary. Shakespeare had a vocabulary of about 15,000 words, but some that he used are now obsolete, while a large number of new ones have been added. Milton used about 8,000 words. It is not likely that a public speaker ever uses more than a few thousand words or the average citizen or man on the street more than a few hundred.

Chamberlain's Recipe for Success.
One night at Lady Jeune's house Joseph Chamberlain said to me that he believed any man of even moderate endowment could attain any given aim which he set before him with unremitting effort and "enduring to the end."

To my question, "Why, then, do so many men fall short of their ambitions?" he answered: "They come to the place where they turn back. They may have killed the dragon at the first bridge and at the second, perhaps at the third, but the dragons are always more formidable the further we go. Many turn back disheartened, and very few will meet the monsters to the end. Almost none is willing to have a try with the demon at the last bridge; but if he does, he has won forever."—Princess Lazarovich Hrehoban (the "Dragon Calhoun") in the Century Magazine.

Capitalizing Our Time.
Believe me when I tell you that the thrift of time will repay you in after life with a usury of profit beyond your most sanguine dreams, and that the waste of it will make you dwindle, alike in intellectual and in moral stature, heneath your darkest reckonings.—W. E. Gladstone.

One Appropriate Place.
Peace at any price is much derided these days, but it is all right in the family.—Ohio State Journal.

APPLES NOT KEEPING WELL.
(Fleingsburg Times-Democrat.)
There is a complaint that on account of the continued warm weather a good many apples are rotting. However, we hear no complaint about fruit that was sprayed. It seems to be the unsprayed fruit that is suffering.

One year's supply of coal for New York, loaded in fifty-ton cars, would make a train reaching from that city to Salt Lake City.

HOW TO MAKE DRIED APPLES

Simple Method Which Will Insure Success If Directions Are Closely Followed.

Peel, core and slice the apples. Place them on platters, wooden trays, or any other convenient receptacle and place them in the sunshine. Take them in at night and during rains; it is impossible to secure good dried fruit unless they are protected from moisture. Protect them from flies and other insects with netting, and place them out of the dust as far as possible. Continue the drying until the fruit has lost more than half its weight; if necessary, it may be placed in the oven for two or three hours at the end. Tie the dried fruit in paper sacks, using a double thickness if thin skin sacks are used, and suspend them from the ceiling of the dryest room available.

When ready to use the dried fruit, wash it well, soak it for six hours or longer, and throw away the liquid drained off. Then cook the fruit for several hours at a temperature slightly below the boiling point.—Mothers' Magazine.

Grape Sage.
Wash one cupful of sage, and soak it in three cupfuls of cold water for two hours. Cook till transparent and add one cupful of grape juice and one cupful of sugar. Turn into a mold and serve very cold. Currant jelly may be substituted for grape juice by thinning a tumbler of the jelly with one cupful of boiling water.

About Roast Pork.
When buying a strip of pork to roast get your butcher to saw the long bone on the top of the strip lengthwise instead of cracking it at each end. When roast is done it can be taken off and each slice cut without any splintered bones.

Grape and Meat Salad.
After washing a bunch of white and a bunch of purple grapes remove the seeds with a sharp knife. Make nests of watercress on lettuce leaves and fill with the grapes and nuts. Serve with a French dressing.

To Reheat Rolls.
Roll either cold rolls or biscuits in wet paper, lay in a pan and let them remain in a hot oven until the paper scorches. They will then taste as if freshly baked.

To cut down the time required for drying a car after painting the test department of the Pennsylvania railroad began some experiments several years ago. The prospect of success was not so bright, for quick drying paints are much less durable than those requiring two days or more to dry. But a way was discovered of cutting down the time of drying by 55 per cent, and thus the time the car is out of service is reduced by 50 per cent. A mammoth oven was built, into which the large cars could be run.

A newly painted car is put in it, the doors are closed and the temperature is raised to above the boiling point of water. In three hours the car is quite dry and is sent back into active service. The first tests of this oven drying were made about two years ago and the present condition of this dried paint indicates strongly that oven dried paint is more durable than that dried in open air.

Rain, rain, rain, and away went Sunday school attendance, but then we should not growl. It was a week of good things last week.

The Baptists put one over by that "bike" over the hills and far away. There have been several changes in this school, but they are for the better. The pastor, superintendent, officers and teachers of that school are always on the alert for good things and the school grows.

The Woman's Missionary Society of the First M. E. church, South, held its week of prayer. It was quite helpful. And by the way, this school is a standard school. One by one the good things come to Maysville.

MARRIAGE LICENSES.

County Clerk James J. Owens issued the following marriage licenses Saturday:

James C. Browning, aged 26, and Elizabeth M. Guy, aged 18, both of Germantown.

Adas J. Simms, aged 36, and Marie L. Owenby, aged 21, both of this city. They were married Sunday by Rev. John Barbour, of the First Presbyterian church. The groom is unemployed at the dam.

Leon C. Hendrickson, aged 19, and Gladys McVahy, aged 23, both of Poplar Flats. County Judge W. H. Rice united the couple.

Walter M. C. Jenkins, aged 20, and Elizabeth F. Rees, aged 21, both of this city.

Mr. R. O. Thomas, of Knoxville, Tenn., is holding down second trick at the C. & O. depot during the vacation of Mr. Mercer, Humphries.

Mr. Boyd Alkman returned Sunday afternoon to his home in Portsmouth, O., after a week's visit with relatives in this city and county.

Mr. Arthur Pope will leave in a few days for the Eastern part of the State on a hunting trip. He will be gone several days.

Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Browning entertained Friday evening with a dinner in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Peed, of Mayslick.

Miss Elizabeth Barbour was up from Cincinnati Sunday visiting her father and mother, Rev. and Mrs. John Barbour.

Hon. E. L. Worthington and W. D. Cochran left Sunday afternoon for a business trip to Washington.

Mr. F. C. Curran, wife and daughter, as Theo. are the guests of Dr. Mahan Smith, in Dover, this week.

Misses Carrie and Lillian Muse have returned home from a short visit with relatives at Mt. Carmel.

Mr. Leslie Emmonds, of Fleming county, was in Maysville Saturday on business.

Messrs. H. C. Curran and Robert L. Hoeftel motored to High Bridge Sunday.

Miss Julia McMillan, of Dover, was a Maysville shopper Saturday.

Mr. W. B. Overly, of Fleming county, was in Maysville Saturday.

Mr. George Burrows is in Mt. Onet today on business.

Mr. Frank Hendrickson was a Cincinnati visitor Sunday.

Mr. D. H. Todd, of Flemingsburg, spent Saturday here.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Thomas motored to Carlisle Saturday.

Mr. James Whitaker spent Sunday in Cincinnati.

SIGNBOARDS

Will Soon Greet Your Eyes in Brown County, Ohio.

(Georgetown News-Democrat.) County Highway Engineer Moore was at Columbus the latter part of the week in conference with State Highway Department officials. Among the instructions brought back, which will be done upon order of the State department, is the erection of sign or guide posts through the county, and the erection of guard rails upon the short curves of the highways. The department furnishes a uniform sign, of style lettering which is very easily read. The background is black, the letters white. They are to be six feet from the ground upon signposts. The instruction given concerning the guard rails is that they shall be painted white. Both these orders are explicit, and they will be laid before the county commissioners for consideration.

CAUGHT WITH GOODS

Bootlegger Given Still Fine At Vanceburg For Having Port-month Liquor.

Marshal W. D. Hendrickson, of Vanceburg, arrested George Cooper Monday night for being drunk, and later when he found him in possession of eighteen pints of whiskey placed a charge of bootlegging against him. He was tried before Judge Bertram Tuesday morning and fined $55.95, in default of payment was sent to jail. He had bought the whiskey in Port-month and had it put off at Buena Vista and went on to Vanceburg, where he secured a buggy and drove up after it.

A citizen of Black Oak caught on to him and telephoned the marshal.

COON HUNT

In Robertson County a Success—Participated In By Men, Women and Dogs.

(Mt. Olive Tribune-Democrat.) Foster Mulliken tells of a record-breaking coon hunting in the Ogden neighborhood Saturday night. He says Ben Mulliken, wife and daughter, Miss Hallie, and Sherman Flora and wife, went out for a chase. The dog taken along by the party struck a trail and ran for a quarter of a mile and "freed."

With the assistance of a shotgun, clubs and the dog, three large coons were captured.

A fine opossum was also caught on the trip.

SEVERELY BURNED

Lewis County Man Has Narrow Escape of His Life.

While pouring powder out of a can into a hole preparatory to making a blast at the rock quarry near Clarksville Saturday, the powder ignited and exploded, while the can was in the hands of Forrest Lawhorn, 22, who has been living with William Bellomy. His clothing was torn from his body and he was severely burned about the arms and legs.

He was lucky to escape with his life.

GETS $60,000

For Four Weeks Acting In the Movies—Contract Just Signed.

Mme. Alla Nazimova, the famous Russian tragedienne, has just signed a contract to enter moving pictures for four weeks at $15,000 per week. As an emotional actress she has few equals. In what photodrama she will make her initial appearance has not yet been determined.

SPLENDID CORN YIELD.

Corn is showing a splendid yield in the county. Haden Moore had forty-five acres in corn on his farm at Mouth of Johnson this year. What is known as "the island," a tract of six acres produced fourteen wagonloads of thirtybushels to the load, making a total of 420 bushels in all produced on the six acres.—Mt. Olive Tribune-Advance.

Julius Adair, of Millersburg, left Saturday for Ithaca, N. Y., where he will take a five-months' course in professional poultry at Cornell University. Mr. Adair is one of the best known chicken fanciers in the State. He contemplates enlisting government work along the lines of his chosen profession after finishing the course at Cornell.

The eleventh semi-annual sale of Island bred and imported Jersey cattle at the Burr Oak farm at Shelbyville is considered by men in a position to know the best which has been made in the last two years. Ninety head, including calves, were sold for a total of $24,345, an average slightly above $270. The average, exclusive of calves, was $210.

Steps for the protection of fur-bearing animals were taken at a meeting of the Kentucky Foxhunters' Association held at Shiloh. A legislative committee was appointed to go to Frankfort at the next session of the General Assembly to secure legislation that will prevent the extermination of fur-bearing animals in this State.

The suit of J. L. Stoway against W. C. Cox and Mrs. John Cox, at Vanceburg, for $2,000 damages for alienation of the affections of his wife, was settled and dismissed Monday.

On Wednesday the Kentucky Game and Fish Commission established and posted a State game refuge at Pine Grove in Clark county, containing about 3,000 acres.

RIVER NEWS

The Idlewild has the Memphis and Ocean Point trade all to herself. The Rob Lee, Jr., has quit and gone to the bank. She will be sent out in another trade later on. The Idlewild is doing a fine passenger and freight business and will continue making a round trip a day.

Captain William C. Lepper, of Louisville, will command the excursion steamer Homer Smith. Captain Peter Holloway, of Point Pleasant, and his son, Henry, who was pilot, resigned. Shot McGuire, of Madison, is the new steward, and will make the Mardi Gras trip to New Orleans this winter. The Smith will again ply in the excursion business out of Louisville next season. Jimmy O'Brien will remain mate on her.

Rivermen generally say this has been an extremely good season for steamboating, there being a fine stage of water until recently. Captain Sid Jones, Louisville steamboat agent, figures that every seven years there are good rivers. In 1860 during the warm weather of the summer months there was plenty of water. In 1868, seven years later, there was a good river, it being at flood stage; in 1882 there was a fine boating stage; in 1889 coal was floated out of Pittsburgh the year around; in 1896 Captain Jones was lock keeper at No. 1 lock in the Kentucky river, where the gates did not have to be closed during the season; in 1903 the mail boats ran the entire season without losing a trip on account of low water; in 1910 the Peter Lee was laid up until the first of April, afterward making regular trips the remainder of the year; 1915 is an odd year, but the captain believes in a short time there will be plenty of water.

Correspondents will please give facts as briefly as possible. When anything of great importance occurs use the Telegram or the Telephone at our expense.

SARDIS.

Mrs. Gore is seriously sick.

Mrs. George Parker is quite sick.

Mrs. Joe Larkin visited her parents last week.

Mrs. Ivy Orme returned home last week from Harrison county.

Mrs. Julia Hill and daughter, Margaret, will move to Maysville soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Belfry returned to their home at Washington Saturday.

L. G. Hamilton and wife will move to Maysville this week, where he has a good position.

Mrs. Cora Forman, of Bonhomme, O., is visiting her brother and family, Dr. O. H. Adamson.

Judge Belfry and son, Palmer, visited his son, John Belfry, near Lewisburg, Sunday. Palmer remained with John for awhile.

A Mr. Thompson will engage in the mercantile business soon in the Dempsey Cooper stand. He has rented Mr. A. Anderson's house to reside in.

Miss Agnes Newman, who has been visiting her parents and other relatives the last week, returned to Danville a few days ago, where she attends college.

KENTUCKY POSTMASTERS

President Still Has Twenty Offices Yet To Fill—Some Choice Plums.

President Wilson still has some choice postoffices in Kentucky to deliver to the "faithful" Democrats, by ousting Republicans, who still are serving Uncle Sam.

The following offices are yet to be filled, and the salaries attached:

Anchorage, $1,700; Ashland, $2,800; Beaver Dam, $1,400; Cynthiana, $2,200; Dixon, $1,600; Elkton, $1,500; Guthrie, $1,500; Harlan, $1,500; Hartford, $1,600; Madisonville, $2,300; Morgantown, $1,800; Nicholasville, $1,900; Salt Lick, $1,000; Shepherdsville, $1,300; Trenton, $1,200; Wilmore, $1,400; Dry Ridge, Van Lear and Whitesburg are the other offices to be filled, but salaries of postmasters at these places are not given in the latest postal guide. All of the Kentucky offices are of the third class except Ashland, Cynthiana and Madisonville.

The postoffice at Kentonown, Robertson county, has been discontinued by the Postoffice Department, the order becoming effective Monday, November 15, 1915. It is one of the oldest postoffices in this section of the State and that village is the trading point of hundreds of people.

The Farmers & Traders Bank of Paris, Ky., is the name under which the new financial institution organized Wednesday in that city will in the future be known.

W. R. Grierson, of Manchester, Saturday shipped to Augusta from the Cincinnati stockyards a carload of western cattle, which he sold through the country.

Mrs. Sarah Price, aged 78, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. C. K. Shell, at Mt. Olive, last Tuesday, after an illness of three years of paralysis.

The sale of horses by C. R. Scott, of Sherburne, at the Ewing Fairgrounds, was well attended, the horses selling at prices ranging from $30 to $200 per head.

DECISION

May Affect Clubs—Action In Granting License In Jefferson County Is Reversed.

All of the country clubs and similar organizations operating bars or cafes where liquor are sold under tavern licenses in Jefferson county may be affected under a ruling by Judge James P. Gregory in the Criminal Court, reversing the action of the County Court in granting such a license to the Audubon Country Club. Judge Gregory's ruling is based on the ground that the Audubon Club as a corporation can not take the oath required of an applicant for tavern license that he intends in good faith to conduct a tavern for the accommodation of the public. It was pointed out that while Judge Gregory's decision does not affect others than the Audubon Club at present, similar actions against them probably would result in like decisions. It also said that, if the Audubon Club carries the case to the Court of Appeals, it may continue to operate under the license granted by the County Court until the final decision is rendered.

AN HONORED GUEST.

(Huntington Herald.) To be an honored guest in the house of John T. Hinton, Jr., Rev. Sam Martin, aged 84 years, preacher and bearer driver, will arrive here today from Paris, Ky., where for fifty years he has been an employee of the J. T. Hinton Undertaking Company. He was born a slave on a Bluegrass farm near Paris and immediately after the war began driving the hearse for Mr. Hinton, an occupation in which he continues.

It is estimated that in his long career he has driven to the cemetery at the head of 7,500 funeral processions and that he has driven a hearse for a total distance of 75,000 miles. Many of the funerals in which he rode to the grave on top of the hearse were conducted by him as minister.

Recently he told his employer that he wanted to go to "young John T." and provision was made at once for the fulfillment of his wish. A special room has been provided for him in the Hinton home and everything will be done to make him comfortable and happy during his stay here.

"NEARLY A LADY" TO BE SHOWN AT THE WASHINGTON OPERA HOUSE.

Conspicuous in the support of Elsie Janis in her latest film success, "Nearly a Lady," produced by Bosworth, Inc., incorporated, is the beautiful Myrtle Stedman. This noted Bosworth star, who recently attracted national attention by winning the popularity contest of the New York Telegraph, is even more brilliant than ever in "Nearly a Lady," a photoplay in which all the honors would naturally be supposed to be monopolized. Miss Stedman's part as Mrs. Brooks, Lord Grosvenor's sister, is ideal for one of her stately charm, and she walks through the sumptuous scenes of the Riverside Drive mansion a true woman of the haute monde.

It might be interesting to know that Elsie Janis personally expressed a desire to have Miss Stedman in her support, the famous little comedienne being generous enough and wise enough always to surround herself with beauty and cleverness.

CHICKEN LAW UPHOLD.

The law making it a felony to steal a chicken, turkey, duck or other fowl of the value of $2 is not invalid for relating to more than one subject, nor is the punishment so cruel as to violate the constitution, said the Court of Appeals, affirming a sentence of one to two years given Edward Fry, in the Bullitt Circuit Court for stealing ducks. The defense contrasted the punishment with that for perjury, grand larceny and other crimes, but the court said punishment is for the purpose of discouraging the perpetration of the crime denounced and not based on a scale of relative infamy.

REACHES NINETY-SECOND YEAR.

The Adams County (O.) Record says:

John Naylor, probably the oldest citizen in West Union, celebrated his ninety-second birthday at his home on Eastern avenue last Tuesday. About forty of his friends and neighbors were present to extend congratulations and partake of the bountiful feast spread in celebration of the event. His sons, John, of Georgetown; Pee, of Bataavia, and Mangel, of Cincinnati, were present with their wives and families. Mr. Naylor has been a honored citizen of West Union for more than sixty years.

MUST SERVE LIFE TERM.

D. F. Deaton, better known as "Duke Fletcher," and who has been in the Winchester jail since his conviction in the Clark Circuit Court to a life term in the penitentiary for complicity in the assassination of Ed. Callahan, must serve the sentence imposed. The verdict was upheld in the Court of Appeals and the defendant made motion to be allowed to prosecute his case in the United States Supreme Court. The motion was denied him by that court in an opinion given Monday and his last hope has faded.

OSCAR MORGAN

To Be Given Preliminary Trial Today—Charged With Grave Offense.

Oscar Morgan, charged with incest, will be given a preliminary trial today in the local court.

Morgan is a married man with a large family, and his alleged crime is a most grave one.

This is not the first time Morgan has been in the limelight of the public. During the night rider troubles in this and surrounding counties, a dispatch was sent to the Lexington Herald saying he had been captured as one of the night riders by a guard of soldiers and used the Lexington Herald for damages in the Mason Circuit Court. The trial created considerable interest at the time, winding up with a verdict in favor of the Lexington Herald.
